Council enacts by-laws

The ASBYU Executive Council acted yesterday to repeal 12 Constitutional By-Laws and enact six new by-laws clarifying the recent controversy over spending of ASBYU funds.

Dick Newcomer, vice-president of finance, introduced the measures, one of which restricts student body officers from using student funds for "gifts to any member of the ASBYU, office parties, office refreshments and payment of fines or penalties caused by neglect on the part of any member of the ASBYU," without specific Council approval.

The new by-law allows for one awards banquet per academic year for each office with the stipulation that the student funds used do not exceed $2 per person.

AN ADDITIONAL by-law outlines the steps for handling violations of financial procedure. The old measure provided for a committee which decided the fate of the officer in violation. The committee was composed of that officer, the Vice-President of Finance and the advisors of those two offices. The new measure places the court of original jurisdiction in the Office of Finance. Appeal can then be made to the ASBYU Budget Request Committee, the Executive Council and finally to the Supreme Court.

A third by-law places in the hands of the Vice-President of Finance, all nominating right for positions on the Budget Request Committee. The nominees must then meet the approval of the President and Council.

Other by-laws outline the duties of the Vice-President of Finance, the restrictions on travel funds allocations for officers and the requirements that must be met by a candidate for the vice-presidential position in the Finance office.

IN OTHER council action, Brian Harrison, a junior from Palo Alto, Calif., was approved to fill a position as associate justice of the Supreme Court. A second vacant seat will be filled next week, according to President Reed Wilcox.

Bill Adams, a senior from Blackfoot, Idaho, was appointed to the Traffic Court. Adams served on the court during the years 1967-69 before leaving for a mission.

A major proposal made by Wilcox could result in the formation of a new vice-presidential office. Wilcox brought before the Council a recommendation that it approve the "Office of Student Development" to be staffed by an elected vice-president. The officer would coordinate soliciting of student donations in conjunction with the office of University Development. The Council delayed the motion for further study.

Says MacDonald

Stop 'manipulation'

Peter MacDonald, Chief of the nation's largest Indian tribe, criticized government treatment of Indians and urged "self-determination" in a discussion following Forum yesterday.

"I am fed up with bureaucrats who are manipulating and trying to control all the progress which is being made by the Indian peoples," said MacDonald, chairman of the 130,000-strong Navajo tribe. He added he wanted to see Civil Service structure eliminated and take the Indian Affairs Bureau out of the Department of Interior, placing it directly under the President.

MACDONALD said he was not "afraid of saying" that the Bureau has not helped Indians to reach the national standard.

"Through the means of the trustee relationship which has been set up by the Bureau of Reclamation, Wildlife and Interior, pieces of land and water rights have been taken away from the Indians. We are going to fight to get them back," stated MacDonald.

MacDonald proposed making reservations "as self-sustaining as we can" to create an economic and political force and come out from under "tight-reined bureaucracy."

He cited the Navajo's economic resources of oil, gas, coal, uranium, land and water. "We have to get control of the resources and then if we have trouble getting our demands heard or accomplished, we simply act."

Referring to Navajo coal in Arizona, Nevada, California and New Mexico, he stated this action could take the form of "pulling the switch, and leave them in the dark, un-air-conditioned heat."

CREATING an autonomous economic "state" would be the objective then, according to MacDonald. "If I take my child to an Indian doctor and pay him, and he takes that dollar to an Indian barber, or grocer, or repair man, and so on, that dollar benefits the entire reservation."

The Indian people on the reservation should be allowed to govern themselves, said MacDonald.

This could only come about, he added, through young people leaving the reservation for training in professional areas. At present, he said, "we are negotiating with HUD for scholarship funds in the areas of Law, Medicine, Nursing and other professional fields." "The future of the Indian people rests largely in our young people who come to schools such as BYU, because they will bring the needed boost to the reservation," MacDonald concluded.

Nixons stop over in Hawaii

KANOEHE MARINE AIR STATION, Oahu, Hawaii (UPI) — President Nixon, a red carnation let around his neck, arrived Thursday evening in Hawaii on the way to his historic rendezvous in Peking.

A crowd estimated by Marine officials at 5,000 greeted Nixon when he stepped off his jetliner into 75-degree temperatures, a sharp contrast from snowy Washington and icy Peking.

Before leaving Washington, Nixon said he hoped his unprecedented visit to the Chinese mainland would help the two nations find a way to "have differences without being enemies in war."

Nixon planned to spend two days in Hawaii, resting at the home of Brig. Gen. Victor Armstrong, commander of this station. He also planned to spend much of the time finishing his reading in preparation for his China trip.

In brief remarks at the departure ceremony, Nixon cautioned against again expecting any dramatic results.

Quoting from a toast Premier Chou En-lai gave for Kissinger and his advance party in Peking last October, the President said: "The American people are a great people. The Chinese people are a great people. The fact that they are separated by a vast ocean and great differences in philosophy should not prevent them from finding common ground."

The President plans to spend a third night on Guam before arriving in Peking via Shanghai at 11:30 a.m. Monday, China time (8:30 p.m. MST Sunday). His welcome to the Chinese capital will be broadcast live to the United States by satellite.

Nixon will first touch mainland Chinese soil at Hungchiao Airport in Shanghai 9 a.m. Monday (6 p.m. MST Sunday) but will leave 50 minutes later for Peking.

Prison mate earns college degree

A BYU correspondence course helped inmate No. 24-109 become the first prisoner in Illinois to ever receive a college diploma.

Last week, William Heirens walked with downcast eyes in the commencement procession of 18 graduates at Lewis College in Lockport, Ill. He looked like all the others from the Catholic educational school except for his age.

ELWC Gallery opens

An open house will be hosted today from 7 to 9 p.m. in the ELWC Gallery for Bruce Smith, a BYU graduate who will open his art show this weekend with a display of paintings, wall hangings, and ceramics.

Sponsored through the ASBYU Culture Office, Smith is currently employed as an artist in Salt Lake City.

WEATHER

The weather may peak up even more today with decreasing cloudiness. Highs today are expected to reach the low 60's. The thermometer will not likely dip to freezing. There is a less than a 10 per cent chance of precipitation.

But Heirens, 43, was different. Beneath the cap and gown he was still a Stateville honor farm inmate, the convicted murderer of a six-year-old girl and two women.

It was the first time Heirens, who claims to be innocent, had been out of the prison in 25 years. Throughout the hour-long ceremony he smiled only once—when he was handed his diploma—and nodded solemnly to his mother on the way out.

Dr. Oliver Smith, a professor in the Communications Dept., supervised Heirens in a course "entitled 'Introduction to Mass Communications'" and explained that Heirens had been working for 26 years with money he earned himself to earn his degree.

"I've supervised other men from institutions," Smith said, "but he was the outstanding inmate in terms of quality of work."

Heirens is still "hopeful" that he will be released someday. He is presently serving a life sentence at Stateville Prison.

Ticket pick-up held today for BYU-U. of U. basketball

Ticket pick-up for tomorrow's BYU-University of Utah game will be today from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on the second floor of the Wilkinson Center. The schedule for both block seating and lottery tickets is:

7:30-9:30; activity cards ending in 2 or 3.
9:30-11:30; activity cards ending in 4 or 5.
11:30-1:30; activity cards ending in 6 or 7.

1:30-3:30; activity cards ending in 8 or 9.
3:30-5:30; activity cards ending in 0 or 1.

Each individual student may only pick up a maximum of two tickets with two current activity cards.

Block seating lists for next week's CSU and Wyoming games are due by 5 p.m. Monday in the Athletics Office on the 4th floor of the Wilkinson Center.

Indian assembly

Brotherhood is stressed

Exchanging the bonds of oppression of the Indian people for the ties of brotherhood was the theme of yesterday's Forum assembly as Indian and non-Indian alike sang "I Am a Child of God."

More than merely dancing and entertainment, the assembly symbolized the birth of a new hope for the Indian people, a hope given verbal expression by Peter MacDonald, Chairman of the Navajo Tribal Council. "We have entered a new era, an era when Indian destinies are going to be determined by Indian minds," he said.

MacDonald cited the need for an adequate education and strong determination to achieve one's commitments, for "You will find in life that nothing is easy; nothing will be handed to you on a silver platter."

MacDonald also said that the "subjective paralysis" caused by outside domination that had held down the Indian for over 100 years is ending as the Indian moves along the "road to self-determination."

The entire assembly characterized the rising hopes of the Indian as he climbs to new horizons and achievements previously unattainable. Changing from the nostalgia of traditional tribal dances and rituals characteristic of the Indian heritage, the assembly gave way to the modern drum beat of the new Indian of the Lamanite Generation and other contemporary Indian groups.

4,760 lunar year

While President Nixon is awaiting some authentic Chinese customs and food, BYU students will be celebrating the Chinese New Year today at 7 p.m. with a banquet, dance and program.

Taking place in the ELWC Ballroom, the celebration will usher in the 4,760th Chinese Lunar New Year which falls Feb. 15 on the western calendar.

The banquet features a menu of sweet and sour pork, barbecued spare ribs, egg foo yong, fried rice, chow mein, and fortune cookies, the traditional Chinese specialties. All food will be prepared by members of the Chinese Student Association.

A fashion show of ancient dress from China, Japan, Korea and other parts of the Orient will follow the banquet. In addition, two ancient Chinese dances will be performed by Janet Wang and Cliffee Chan. The dances symbolize a Chinese "cowboy" and his lover and a traditional long-sleeved dress custom. Following the banquet, a semi-formal dance will take place.

This is the year of the rat, one of 12 animals which symbolize the different years. It is also the first year in the 12-year Chinese birth cycle. The New Year celebration continues until Feb. 29.

What is the largest national fattime?

Dieting. It has to win food down as the most talked-about under-producing phenomenon that has ever hit the American eating front.

My greatest complaint over diets is that no matter what kind you are on, you can usually eat as much as you want of anything you don't like.

I TAKE a matter of fat attitude about the whole thing—it's here to stay and as long as it's going to lounge around the greater part of my stomach, I'll send it some company.

However, there are those who are still looking into the matter and poking at it for the possible "miracle solution."

Foreign scientists have not been inactive in this area. The patent research of Boris Beltzov, a Soviet biochemist, has resulted in a highly publicized diet recently serialized in Pravda. Dr. Beltzov discovered that the oil derived from Kasha, a staple of the peasant diet, has a wondrous property.

Kasha oil when taken at meal time forms an unbreachable oily

THE VANITATUE

by DALE VANATTA

film about the food. Consequently, whatever has been eaten will not be absorbed by the body.

The alleged success of this diet has resulted in numerous invitations to Dr. Beltzov to recently received asylum at the Swiss Embassy after pursuit by a horde of thin peasant women brandishing scythes.

BUT WHERE the biochemists linger, perhaps the electronic engineer may come smashing through. From the Lax Foundation at Miami Beach has come the "Totally Implantable Transformed Pacemaker for the Diversion of Caloric Intake."

The pacemaker, a small cylindrical device less than two inches in length, contains a single best answer to the weight-control problem in chimpanzees.

In contrast to the quantitative approach of the biochemists and engineers, we find the psychiatrists directing their fire at the subconscious.

They propose a breakfast consisting of a dozen steaming flapjacks in pure mountain maple syrup, a generous double serving of Canadian bacon, baked corn popovers with creamy butter, and a half-dozen fried eggs. The patient invariably becomes violently ill. The psychological reaction to this episode is so severe that a food intake phobia often results.

Actually, there are only a few simple ways in which you can break the pound barrier which are as follows:

Check your doctor

Before you begin any prolonged or drastic diet, it is very important that you see your doctor — see how big and fat he is. A single visit may convince you that he is in much worse shape than you are and that you don't have to diet at all. This can bring you immediate peace of mind and spare you weeks or months of semi-starvation.

Eat less — lose more

If you feel you must go on a diet, remember that the less food you eat, the more you lose. This has been proven in clinical tests. People who are given nothing to eat over a period of time lost their lives.

Don't skip meals

Choose a sound diet, one that provides all the basic food elements your body needs, and follow it religiously. Above all, don't skip meals and don't skimp on portions or you will be so hungry by dinner time that you will overeat and actually gain weight. So be sensible — stuff yourself at every meal.

Exercise will power

When you stuff yourself, do it intelligently. Exercise will power in choosing your foods. Let us say that you are on a 1200 calorie a day diet. If your Monday morning breakfast consists of half a small grapefruit (150 calories), a poached egg (75 calories), two slices of dry toast (150 calories), a chocolate malted (500 calories), and a piece of pie a la mode (600 calories), you have had it until some time Tuesday. Yet you could have stayed within your calorie quota had you resisted temptation and done without the half grapefruit, the poached eggs, and the dry toast.

In closing, I offer this last piece of advice: Eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow you diet.

transistor circuit, a tiny mercury energizer, and a comatose tapeworm. The unit is installed and operates in the following manner:

"Once a day the transistor puts out an electrical impulse which is applied to the sternum of the tapeworm. The worm is thus goaded into quick activity and eats the equivalent of one full meal which is stored in one of its gastric metanemes."

Henry Kroff, inventor of this device, has thus far seen his unit implanted in fourteen chimpanzees with phenomenal success.

"In only one case," said Henry, with a twinkle in his eye, "was an increase in the chimpanzee's weight recorded. It seems this little rascal found his way into the banana bin, unnoticed, and got a head start on the tapeworm."

David Barrus talks with President Nixon.

Barrus questions

Officials answer issues

David Barrus, a Provo freshman, recently used a scouting business trip to question officials on current issues. Answers came after Barrus presented the annual Scouting report to Nixon.

Claiming that the United Nations "has no authority of its own," United Nations Undersecretary Urkhardt said that the international body "is not hopeless."

"The United Nations' job is to be a go-between, and it is effective only if both nations at war want peace," he said.

Labor's struggle with management was given light when Barrus asked AFL-CIO International Vice-president Leo Pearlis if the pendulum of power had weighted in favor of labor.

"In a democracy, no side should have power above the other," Pearlis stated. Adding that only one-fourth of all workers belong to a union, Pearlis concluded that those figures "put it in the employees' favor."

Utah Congressman Gunn McKay, in attributing the nation's biggest problems to attitudes, commented that "problems will always be here but our attitudes toward them can improve."

letters to the editor

Response to Justice

Editor,

I would like to respond to the editorial, "Has Justice Been Served," by Mr. Richard Newcomer, ASBYU Vice President of Finance, which appeared in the Universe Feb. 16. Mr. Newcomer suggests to the student body that we need to view all of the facts before assessing the degree of guilt of Mr. Marlowe's expenditure of student body funds for a Christmas Party for his staff. If Mr. Newcomer had any new facts to present in this case he had the opportunity to do so when Mr. Marlowe resided them most, when the case was being heard before the Supreme Court last Saturday. The only thing that Mr. Newcomer had to present was a patification for what he termed, "a poor judgment" by Mr. Marlowe in using student funds for the party. The "poor judgment" in question here was ruled by the ASBYU Supreme Court as a violation of a by-law of the Constitution. There can be no proper justification considered for knowingly breaking the law. It has been argued that Mr. Marlowe was not aware of the by-law contained in the Constitution and in the Executive Manual which is given to each elected official at the beginning of his term. If this is true, perhaps Mr. Marlowe is guilty of a charge equally as serious, that of incompetence in public office. In any case, nothing that has been said thus far can mitigate the burden of responsibility that must be held to Mr. Marlowe.

Mr. Newcomer presents some figures which he suggests might be interesting, regarding the fiscal condition of the Social Office last year and the current financial situation in the Social Office this year. These figures are indeed "interesting." How does Mr. Newcomer expect the students to draw a valid conclusion based on the total of a years activities and contrast that figure to only a part of a semester. It would be more interesting to see what the fiscal status of the Social Office was last December 31. However, I think there is a more important point to be made here. If the Social Office is making too much money this year, where is it coming from? The obvious conclusion is that the Social Office has a $13,334 surplus because of the students of BYU. It is true that we will enjoy some free activities as a result of this budget surplus, but a very serious question arises from this. What are the goals of the Student Government activities? Is Student Government an organization that has such a basic motive as profit seeking? It appears to me that a more desirable goal would be to have any event that charges students admission to just break even. I emphatically reject the concept that the success of any student government office can be measured by the amount of money it makes during the year. If this concept is applied, student government appears to be milking the students of their money just to make their list of credits more impressive. Further, I do not accept the argument that the fact the Social Office has made a lot of money this year justifies them spending $225.94 for a Christmas Party and $31.05 for a Birthday Party.

It is easy to stand back and criticize the decision made by the ASBYU Supreme Court, but if we are truly seeking to see that the right thing is done and fairness is extended to all, there can be no dispute that the law was broken and the law must be satisfied in the best interests of the entire student body.

I have not attempted to pass judgement on the moral character of Mr. Marlowe, because that certainly must be left to a higher authority. It may be true that the law that was violated is a bad one and perhaps it ought to be changed. Even if this were true, it does not justify breaking a written law because we do not agree with it.

Mr. Marlowe has leveled some very serious charges against other members of the Executive Council. Justice demands that Mr. Marlowe be allowed to prove his allegations. Every student in this school has the right to know what is being done with their money. The Executive Council now faces a very serious question. Either the charges made by Mr. Marlowe are true, in which case some type of self discipline by members in violation is in order, or he is simply making false charges, in which case he is in violation of the BYU Honor Code, and ought to be dealt with accordingly. In any case, the Executive Council must act one way or the other. If these charges are allowed to stand unrefuted the entire Executive Council has betrayed the trust placed in them by the students of this University.

There are no easy solutions to the problems we face right now. The principles of the Gospel tell us that a high degree of honesty and moral character are essential elements in our dealings with others. I personally have a very firm testimony of the principle of repentance, but certainly the Gospel requires that we accept the moral responsibility of our actions. This will require decisions which perhaps will be difficult and painful to make.

This is how the marquis on the Playhouse Theatre in Los Angeles, Calif. looked when BYU's cast of "Dance on a Country Grave" played there recently.

In L.A.

'Country Grave' draws crowd

Results of the debut of a BYU's "Dance on a Country Grave" in Los Angeles has garnered "a favorable reaction" but a semicritical review by the Los Angeles Times.

"Dance on a Country Grave" was received last weekend in the Playhouse Theater in Los Angeles by Richard Chamberlain, Phil Silvers, Carol O'Connor, John Forsythe and Jonathan Miller. According to Dr. Harold Oaks, director, approximately 1,200 people viewed the two performances in the 1,000-capacity playhouse.

"The production was in much better shape than it was even here at BYU," Oaks commented. "The second act was stronger, even though we did have problems with lighting."

And the lighting did present a definite problem.

According to a critic in the Los Angeles Times, "lighting, it seems, had to be improvised, largely from the sides, which proved inadequate."

Lighting problems were further explained when the critic added that "a serious question of good judgement surrounds the decision to mount the show locally at the Playhouse Theater, an old Los Angeles house now used primarily for purposes of rehearsal and plagued with poor acoustics."

Echoing some of the "favorable reaction" that Oaks felt the show received, the critic related that "Director Harold Oaks handled his large cast well."

Folk songs feature singers, Collins and Simon

Whatever else it might have been, 1971 for music saw the introduction of the female musician with such notables as Carole King and Carly Simon. Carly has released her second album, "Anticipation," a work making an interesting comparison with that of another veteran female, Judy Collins, also providing us with a new release.

Judy's is a live album appropriately entitled, "Living." The relative simplicity of the arrangement has allowed her to draw from a wide area of songs differing in her moods yet all retaining the same ethereal quality. Her stage performance includes guitar, bass, piano and drums with an occasional guitar addition from maestro, Ry Cooder. Her back-ups all simulating harmony that is neither tight nor intense, but light and comfortable, almost airy.

Carly, meanwhile, has settled down into a sophisticated performer, seemingly having developed more confidence in her voice and material. The fresh, middle-class background introspections are still there retaining their keenness, but there's no tinges of country on this album and a cee country sound is dominant. "Anticipation," like "Living" is filled with "just-the-right" techniques, as Carly's voice slips in and out, overdrubbing and soloing.

Both Carly and Judy pay great attention to detail. Judy's material is of an almost classical nature, selecting Hamilton Camp's adaptation of "Innifer" or performing an a capella version of the traditional "All Things Are Quite Silent."

Mark Hennessey, Cougar tennis player, will be out of action for four weeks but is expected to return to the squad, according to the Sports Information Service.

He was injured when he accidentally put his foot through a plate glass door. He suffered severe lacerations behind the knee.

Hennessey was wounded following a losing bout in the Provo Invitational Tennis Tournament.

Ombudsman office seeks replacement

A two-year old program "seeking to improve communications" is soliciting a replacement to head the Office of the Ombudsman.

"The job requires time, effort and work and is at times quite demanding," stressed Bush. "Any applicant should keep that in mind, but should also realize that there are substantial rewards to be had in helping others."

Students who wish to apply should obtain applications from the receptionist on the ELWC fourth floor. Applicants must spend five hours a week in the office until selection in April.

Miller to leave BYU football, replaced by Ricks head coach

Assistant football coach Les Miller will be leaving the BYU squad to be replaced as offensive backfield coach by Rick's College head coach Dr. Don Rydahl.

Rydahl, who has been head coach at Ricks since 1966 except for one year's absence to complete a doctor's degree at BYU, will take over his BYU responsibilities April 1.

Miller, with the BYU football squad since 1968, said he was leaving the team "to pursue other interests out of the coaching field."

He said that he could not stay with the BYU team and feel completely fair to Lavell (Edwards, head coach) who, he said, in setting up a new program, is expecting assistant coaches to stay at BYU for at least two or three years.

Miller made no mention of what his other interests are. Before coming to BYU, as well as coaching at Joplin High School in Joplin, Missouri, he was involved in insurance and scouting.

Indoor track schedule

Here's the event by event itinerary for the WAC Indoor Track and Field Meet to be held Friday and Saturday at the Salt Palace:

60-YARD HURDLES — Fri. 7:15, 7:45-Sat. 7:25
WAC RECORD—7.0—Paul Gibson (UTEP) 1970-71

Defending champion Paul Gibson is not returning, but the second and third place finishers, Richard Mauck of New Mexico (7.3) and BYU's Dan Redfern (7.3) are. Mauck edged Redfern in a recent meet, so should be favored. Lobos could pick up at least ten points here.

60-YARD DASH — Fri. 7:30, 8 p.m.—Sat. 7:45
WAC RECORD—6.0—Mike Tray (UTEP), Harrington Jackson (UTEP)

This has been a UTEP event from the start, and Harrington Jackson, the NCAA champion in the 100-yard dash, is a big favorite to repeat. Last year's second and third place finishers, Don Buzo of Arizona (6.2), and Harlan Mansfield of Arizona (6.2) are both returning. NEW MEXICO's Walt Hesterson (6.1) should also be a top finisher, while Utah's Steve Odom has had excellent clockings.

88-YARD RUN — Fri. 8:25-10:10 (Finals)
WAC RECORD—1:55.0—Steve Bergeson (BYU) 1970

Defending champion Kerry Elison of UTEP is returning along with four other runner entries in this event. New Mexico's Reid Cole, who finished fourth last year, is a threat, along with Alan Judd of BYU. Steve Piller of ASU. No clear-cut choices beyond Elison.

MILE RUN — Fri. 8:40-Sat. 9:30
WAC RECORD—4:03.6—Wayne Jones (Wyoming) 1971

Without Jensen, it's an open race with the 2-3-4-5 finishers all returning.

UTEP's Rod Hall (4:06.5), BYU's Sam Francis (4:07.1), New Mexico's Dave Roberts (4:10.0) and Utah's Bob Rice (4:10.2) led in that order. Best of the lot, however, could be a BYU freshman Paul Cummings, who was clocked in 4:10.8 just a week ago. UTEP's Greg Jones has a 4:08.8 this season, and CSU's Randy Yano (4:13.0) could finish high.

440-YARD RUN — Fri. 8:50-10 p.m. (Finals)
WAC RECORD—1:47.6—Samuel Tamm (BYU) 1971

This could be the most contested event of the meet with any one of half dozen newcomers figuring in the dash. BYU's Ben Peterson was third last year (48.9). New Mexico should get points with Jean Johnson (49.3) and Keith O'Brian (49.8). Another newcomer of note is BYU's Lars Stubbendorf. The field is loaded, and the winner could be a surprise.

1000-YARD RUN — Fri. 9:10-Sat. 9:10
WAC RECORD—3:07.5—Greg Jones (UTEP) 1971

Jones is back and is the big favorite. So is Alan Judd (2:09.9) who finished second, and Vase Sotchi (2:11.4), both of BYU. New Mexico entries include Dave Roberts (2:11.7) who should finish no lower than third. Jones, however, should repeat.

600-YARD RUN — Fri. 9:30-Sat. 9:45
WAC RECORD—1:10.1—Read Cole (New Mexico) 1971

The Lobos are counting on Cole, who holds the meet record, for a repeat. Arizona has two good contenders in Bob Piller (1:12.0) and Larry Watson (1:12.5). UTEP hopes will ride with the ratings headed by Ron Boudreau. BYU newcomers Steve Young (1:12.3) and Karl Sweney (1:13.2) should place high in this event.

TWO-MILE RUN — Fri. 9:45 (Finals)

WAC RECORD—Scott Brighams (Utah) 1971

With Brighams in the tunnel Guard, the race may narrow down to the second and third place finishers of last year, UTEP's John Rednair (8:56.0) and BYU's Richard Reid (9:05.2). Arizona's Rubin Monahan is a good contender along with New Mexico's Blair Johnson. At the Salt Lake City Convention this will be a good test of endurance.

DISTANCE MEDLEY — Sat. 8:30 (Finals)
WAC RECORD—9:59.0—TexasEl Paso, 1970

Brigham Young University is defending champion in this event. The winner of the fourtime is returning. New Mexico and UTEP have strong teams again.

TWO-MILE RELAY — Sat. 8:55 (Finals)
WAC RECORD—7:37.5—TexasEl Paso, 1970

The Miners are in a good position to repeat this year, with BYU, New Mexico and possibly Colorado State contending.

MILE-RELAY — Sat. 9:45 (Finals)
WAC RECORD—3:14.0—Brigham Young, 1971

BYU won the event last year by more than three seconds, but only one member of that team is returning. Even the Cougars, Lobos and Miners will all make a chance of it.

LONG JUMP — Fri. 7 p.m. (Finals and Finals)
WAC RECORD—25.1 — Phil Quinist (New Mexico) 1970

Utah's Dave Walker won last year's jump. Not a large field in this event, but the competition will be keen. New Mexico's Chad Stiffes (54-10), Wyoming's Bob Black (over 54-feet), UTEP's Roger McDonald (who finished with a 54-10 for third last year), and ASU's Steve Holden, and BYU's Karl Palmer are among the best.

POLE VAULT — Sat. 7 p.m. (Finals and Finals)
WAC RECORD—16.6 — Alti Alamo (BYU), 1970; Paul Neider (UTEP), 1971 and Tegenar Jernberg (New Mexico), 1971

Jernberg, of course, is the favorite here. Viewers who can go 100 or better include BYU's Richard Yata, Wyoming's Cliff Collier, and ASU's Tim Knappsen. There are others, of course, but no new marks are expected.

TRIPLE JUMP — Sat. 7:30 (Finals and Finals)
WAC RECORD—51.6 — Larry Vanley (UTEP) 1971

Chuck Stiffes, who finished second last year (51-10) behind Vanley, has the best shot at first place this time around. Harold Kelley of UTEP (48-5-4) sixth in '71. ASU's Steve Holden should also place high. Good event for a school with a jumper to pick up valuable points.

SHOT PUT — Sat. 8:30 (Finals and Finals)
WAC RECORD—44.2-4 — Fred Diermeck (UTEP) 1971

This event should be DeBernard's all the way. Fred is making the 67-foot mark, and nobody in the world is threatening. BYU's Anders Arnesen is the best bet for second in a field that might otherwise be considered on the fifth side.

HIGH JUMP — Sat. 8:30 (Finals and Finals)
WAC RECORD—7-0 — Barry Shepherd (Arizona State) 1970 and Ken Lundmark (BYU) 1970

Utes here for hoop pow wow

Indian Week will end abruptly tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. when all hospitality toward Redskins (at least the U of U variety) will come to an end. BYU meets the Utes from Salt Lake City in the regionally televised WAC game of the week on the home hardwoods.

UTAH is 12-8 overall, and nurses a 4-5 record in loop competition. BYU now sports a 17-3 mark after its 10 game winning streak was snapped at the hands of the ASU Sun Devils last weekend. Still, the Cats are the favorite to take the WAC crown, and conference foes will be hoping that the Utahns can knock the Cougars off.

A sell-out crowd is expected for the annual hoop match-up, and the Cougars may break the season attendance record again for a single game with nearly 23,000 fans expected to be in attendance. BYU fans that missed getting tickets at least will have the opportunity to catch the action via television. The game will be telecast over KSI-TV (channel 5).

NO CHANGES are anticipated in the BYU lineup. The Cats will either start Belmont Anderson or Brian Ambrosich at the weak side forward spot.

Ticket pick-up for tomorrow's game will be today from 7-30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Students may call extension 4192 for detailed ticket information.

In preliminary action, BYU's Kittens will go up against the Utah Papooses at 1:15 p.m. The BYU frosh are 5-6 for the season, while the Papooses are 5-9 thus far.

Women's p.e. meet begins here today

A women's physical education extravaganza will be in action today and tomorrow in the Richards P.E. Building.

The BYU hosted affair, slated to start today at 5 p.m. and Saturday at 9 a.m., will feature basketball, swimming and gymnastics competition. Teams are entered from 10 area schools, including Boise State, Idaho State, Ricks, Utah State, Weber State, Southern Utah State, Utah and Snow College.

Swimmers sink ISU, Utah tonight

BYU swimmers will host their second meet of the season and final dual meet today when they encounter the University of Utah team at 8 p.m.

A disappointed Idaho State team returned to Porterville Wednesday night after BYU left them in the wake of an 80-30 tidal wave.

BYU took first place in 10 of 12 competitions.

A LARGER Cougar team took advantage of the numerical difference by entering three or four dualists to one ISU contestant, which accounted partially for the lopsided score.

In the 200 yard breaststroke, there were no red and black trunks to be seen on the starting blocks so the heat ended up to be an intramural race.

In the first heat, the 400 yard medley relay, the BYU swimmers won by nearly a length of the pool at 4:06.

Mike Baxter got a 10:47 mark for first place in the grueling 1,000 yard free style and Jack Stapley with two best efforts with a 2:07 in the 200 yard free style relay.

and 2:06 in the 200 yard butterfly.

STEVE WESTON took 22.9 seconds in the 50 yard free style for first place and Noel Laverty placed first in the 200 yard individual medley at 2:08. Fred Aelford finished first in the 300 yard free style at 5:10.

Steve Parcello took highest honors in the one meter diving competition with 248.10 points and Larry Cotcher captured the eight meter board action with 285.90 points.

ISU successfully finished the 100 yard free style, 200 yard backstroke and the 400 yard free style relay.

Gymcats host Redskins

Despite suffering their first loss of the season, the BYU gymnasts will be optimistic tomorrow when they host the neighboring Utah Redskins.

NOT ONLY do the Cats own three dual meet victories over the Utes this year, and six straight over a two year period, but they are coming off from their finest performances of the season in splitting with Arizona (151.60-140) and Arizona State (156.50-159.95). Competing tonight between BYU and Utah will get underway at 7:30 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

In losing to ASU last weekend, the Cougar were pushed to their finest point total of the season, 156.50 points. Sophomore Werner Hoger went over 50 points both nights in the all-around and had a career best score of 10.5 against ASU. Provoan Wayne Young also had two good nights in the all-around and totaled 48.60 against the Sun Devils.

"I WAS very pleased with our performance (last week)," said coach LaVon Johnson. "We got good efforts from the entire team and should be ready for Utah this week."
